

2023 Impact Report

2023 proved to be a stellar year for Green Mountain Habitat for Humanity. Together, with your support through volunteering, financial contributions, and donations and shopping at our three ReStores, we were able to help six hardworking Vermont families purchase a home of their own. Before Habitat, these families were living in substandard, unsafe, and overcrowded rentals and just making enough to cover their high housing costs. When they decided to make the move to home ownership, they gave hundreds of hours of their own time (“sweat equity”) and worked alongside hundreds of volunteers, to make their dream of homeownership a reality.

We are proud of our partner families who purchased their Habitat homes at cost this year in Swanton, Morrisville, Burlington, Shelburne, and Colchester and are excited to work with our partner families who soon will be Habitat homeowners in Burlington, South Burlington, and Morrisville.

As we celebrate our 40th Anniversary this year, we look forward to continuing to work together in our community, building homes and hope throughout Northwest Vermont. Your support has been monumental in our ability to address the critical need for affordable housing, and we look forward to a time where everyone has a safe place to call home.

With much gratitude,

David Mullin, CEO

Highlights from the year!

2023 was filled with many events, partnerships, and new beginnings for Green Mountain Habitat for Humanity. Here is a list of just some of our accomplishments:

- We moved into a new office to account for our growing staff and increased capacity.
- We participated in the Vermont Nursery and Landscape Association's 2023 Flower Show, and we raffled off Pooh's house.
- We built our first ever home in Colchester.
- We partnered with Vermont Construction Company, who will put a free roof on every new Green Mountain Habitat home
- Our longtime volunteer group, the self-proclaimed "Geezer Team" was featured on WCAX's Super Senior segment.
- We kicked off a partnership with the United Church of Underhill on 8 new homes.

We couldn't achieve all these feats without the help of our dedicated volunteers, donors, staff, shoppers, and supporters. Without you, we would not be able to give families the opportunity to become homeowners. Thank you so much!
